

Clinical Correlation in General Medicine
2005-2006 Session #1 (Cellulitis/DVT)
Evaluation and Feedback

Strongly Disagree	Disagree	Somewhat Disagree	Neutral	Somewhat Agree	Strongly Agree	Not Applicable
-------------------	----------	-------------------	---------	----------------	----------------	----------------

1) Medical Knowledge

I am able to explain the difference between a systems-based and a problem-based approach to medical knowledge.
I am able to list various diseases that Group B Strep can manifest as.
I am able to identify the three elements of Virchow's triad that are necessary for venous thromboembolic disease

2) Patient Care

I can describe the basic elements of a case presentation.
I can explain the concept of a differential diagnosis.
I am able to identify at least two differential diagnoses for a patient that has a similar presentation as this patient(s).

3) Interpersonal and Communication Skills

I am able to list effective listening, narrative & nonverbal skills that were employed or absent during the patient encounter.
--	--	--	--	--	--	--

4) Professionalism

I am able to identify the ways that a clinical clerk can be considerate of the needs of patients, families, and/or colleagues.
--	--	--	--	--	--	--

5) Systems-Based Practice and Practice-Based Learning and Improvement

I am able to identify the ways that a clinical clerk can access outside resources to improve patient care.
--	--	--	--	--	--	--

6) Overall

The basic science review was effective.
The bedside physical examination was effective.
This session was well organized.
This session met its objectives.
This session was a valuable experience.
I would recommend this activity to my peers.

Strengths: What did you like the best about today's session? What is the most useful thing that you gained?

--

Weaknesses: What did you like least? What could have been improved?

--

Additional Feedback and Suggestions: (on back if necessary)

--